Christmas Message

TO THE STUDENTS OF LOYOLA COLLEGE:

The primary lesson of our annual celebration of Christmas is this — that man learns to love God more. Without love of God, our knowledge remains supernaturally inefficient in the attainment of eternal blessedness. Because of this importance of love our natural capacity to love in this life far exceeds our capacity to know. Our gift of love is greater than our gift of knowledge. In knowing things we draw them into ourselves. But in loving persons we are drawn to them.

The Christmas season offers man the occasion to renew and increase his love of God. The custom of exchanging gifts, our practice of recalling the first Christmas by Christmas cribs, and the use of Madonna cards and Bethlehem scenes fire in us the generous spirit of love culminating in the offering of ourselves to God during Mass on Christmas morn.

It is my prayerful hope and studied plan that the Faculty of Loyola College will provide inspiration and guidance in order that you might grow in your love of God Whom we worship as a Divine Infant especially during the Christmas season.

May the spirit of the Christ Child in your heart increase each year and remain with you forever.

Vincent F. Beatty, S.J.
President

It will be given in conjunction with the Glee Club of Mount Mercy College, Pittsburgh.

Under the direction of Miss Virginia Reinecke, the Club will sing "Lo How a Rose 'Ere Blooming", "Angels We Have Heard on High", and "While by My Sheep". Combined numbers consist of the "Fantasia" of Vaughn-Williams and Vivaldi's "Gloria". The Club will also appear at the Deutsches Haus restaurant on December 16 for the benefit of the Military Engineers.

For the second successive year, the Club will record for radio station WFBR. The exact date has not yet been announced, but it will be aired some time during Christmas week.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

It seems to me that some of your Greyhound editorials have lost their way and wandered from these pages onto the Daily Bulletin. The issues of this daily slander sheet I refer to are notably those of Nov. 24, 25, 30 and Dec. 1.

I speak now with no authority except that of a private student. However, I am not alone in what I am about to say. . . Yet it seems to me that a certain individual has pre-empted upon himself the title of "world editor and martyr." . . . Furthermore, his martyrdom is seriously impeded by the fact that he uses the ancient, honorable and legendary pseudonym of "Harry" to mask his (own).

The question comes to mind whether this individual has been designated an editor or not. Can his statements, on the bulletin boards almost every day, be considered official Greyhound pronouncements? I wonder too, whether or not the newspaper's moderator has a say in what is published in the Bulletin, as he must have in the content matter of the paper itself? . . .

It is a shame that such an abuse has befallen an old tradition. It is also a shame that the once factual, often humorous, Bulletin has degenerated into a spiteful, malicious, not so humorous, organ of one man's individual opinions.

Mr. Editor, put the editorials back on page 2. Let the Bulletin again become an official organ of fact.

Richard C. Keene '60

Dear Sir:

Recently (December 1) on the Students' Bulletin Board, there was posted a Bulletin about the success of the Baltimore Colts and a prediction of their future success. The Loyola College Student who writes this notice was extremely wrong in his predictions; as he didn't even know enough about the future of the Colts, to know the day of their next game.

This trivial point is mentioned to bring out the point, "Harry" may not be fully versed on several points he has so outwardly spoken about in his recent Bulletins.

There is not a stamp of approval by the Dean of Men's office on his so-called daily Bulletins. Where does he receive his authority? Why are these Bulletins not edited by a staff? Is this Bulletin meant to be a personal weapon?

John W. Hilton, Jr. '62

P.S. Get him a decent typist!

Ed. Note: The Greyhound Bulletin was started several years ago as an auxiliary to the Greyhound, to present a daily list of events on campus and off. The writer usually included comments on these and past and future events. As part of the Greyhound organization, a daily stamp is not necessary. The Greyhound moderator sees the material appearing as does the Dean of Men when posting the Bulletin on his bulletin board.

The present writer of the Bulletin is John W. Baynes. It has consistently been a one man effort. There are few interested in the daily effort required.

Bulletin writer Baynes has been given a green light by the Greyhound moderator in advance to the recent controversial issues. The light is still green.

P.S. Please do not comment upon the morals of our workers.

An Open Letter to Mr. Joe Cerra:

College students proverbially complain about any food served them on campus. Considering the difficulties presented by our soon-to-be-vacated rathskeller we think that you have done a fine job. If in our attempts at humor we have over-stepped the bounds of good taste we hereby apologize. So please Joe, no cyanide in the soup.

Greyhound Salutes Hugh F. Coyle

by JOHN W. GLENN

"Last week's pep rally and the follow thru at the A.U. game marked a new era in school spirit for Loyola." So states Hugh Coyle, the president of the Loyola College Athletic Association.

These may seem like strong words, but it should be remembered that in his capacity as president of the Athletic Association, Hugh has had ample opportunity to view the attitude of the student body toward the various teams at Loyola.

Hugh's prediction of student spirit this year is mainly concerned with the basketball team. He was elated with the tremendous student support of last Saturday's game and is leading the "better attendance rally" for the remaining home games.

A Political Science major, Hugh was an honor student at Loyola High School. He has also been able to maintain a high average here at the College, which he reckons to be "about 3.41678204 in round numbers". He states that it could have been even higher had it not been for a certain Physics course which he was forced to take in junior year.

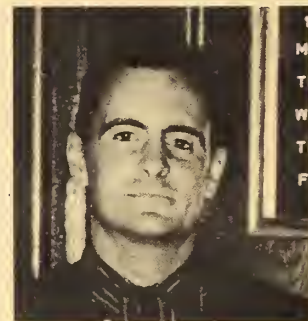

Besides being an honor student,

Hugh has devoted himself to various other extracurricular activities. He is a member of the History Academy, I.R.C., Sam's Club, and the Student Council.

In his junior year, Hugh shared the Philosophy Gold Medal with two other members of his class. He has also been on attack on the Lacrosse team since freshman year.

During the past three summers, Hugh has worked for the American Brewery, reportedly as a . . . taster . . . He says that the job was "delectable . . . and fulfilling."

Looking toward the future, Hugh plans either on going to graduate school or working for the Foreign Service of the government. He states that he would like very much to go overseas. (His wish may be fulfilled when the Uncle calls him. Ed.)

the Watchdog

Since this is the last issue before Christmas we would like to take the opportunity to wish all our friends a "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year." Also we hate to disappoint those who ask, but we are not planning any trips near the recent anti-dog dispute on the Mexican Border. At least not unleashed.

Will everyone on campus please be on the lookout for students with unnecessary bulges in their clothing? Seems that 22 chairs are missing from the new student union building. Obviously the work of cranks.

To all the people who bring in meat sandwiches on fast days for Mr. Sweitzer's dog: Please leave off the mustard.

Can anyone tell us why a member of the freshman debating team refused an invitation from some very pretty girls at Temple University to join them at lunch?

Members of the Rifle Team, who have on occasion used the new rifle range, were informed the other day that as yet the building has not been accepted by the college. What they would like to know is how long it will take to remove said building if it is not accepted.

Contrary to our usual policy we would like to congratulate the swimming team for a very fine job at its last two meets. Also we would like to extend thanks to the basketball team who in The Watchdog's opinion played a great game the other night against a tough opponent.

Watch for a car caravan to be arranged for the Towson State teachers game. We understand that a few experts from Calvert Hall have been brought in for the occasion.

The juniors celebrated the eighteenth anniversary of Pearl Harbor with an announced R.O. T.C. quiz last Monday.

"County Fair" Drill Last For Semester

On December 2 the ROTC conducted an unusual type of drill for its last one of the first semester.

For this last drill the Brigade gave a "county fair" drill examination. Each battle group had ten stations at which the basic course students were given performance tests on the various phases of drill. The examination was given by the junior cadets under the direct supervision of the seniors.

Number Identities

Each basic student was given a numbered tag for identification. The first station was inspection at which the cadets were graded for their personal appearance and sent on to the next station. Each station had a value of ten points giving a total of 100 points for the entire examination.

The scores were handed in to Cadet Lt. Col. Albert Muehlberger. As Deputy Brigade Commander he matched the numbered scores with a master sheet containing the cadets names. The scores will be graded on a percentile basis and will compose the major portion of the drill grade.

Fall Review

Colonel Thomas Mifflin, Deputy Commander of the XXI U.S. Army Corps, received the Fall Semester Review held on November 25. Representing Loyola on the reviewing stand were Father Bourbon, Dean of Men, and Prof. Vincent J. Colimore, Chairman of the Department of Modern Languages.

Good Conduct medals were awarded to three of the enlisted members of the Loyola Cadre. Master Sgt. James H. McLaughlin received his fifth award of the medal, Master Sgt. Robert J. Nutter received his third and Sgt. First Class Willard B. Dover received his first award.

GREYHOUND SPORTS

By BILL LOHNES

Greyhound Sports Editor

Bill McElroy tells the following story about Phil Goodman, President of the City Council of Baltimore.

About ten years ago, when Mr. Goodman coached wrestling at Evergreen, he was having trouble getting potential grapplers to come out for the squad.

Realizing that the prospect of away matches was an incentive to get men to participate in athletics, he announced, enthusiastically, that three contests had been scheduled on the opponent's mats. "We're really going to travel this year," he told the students.

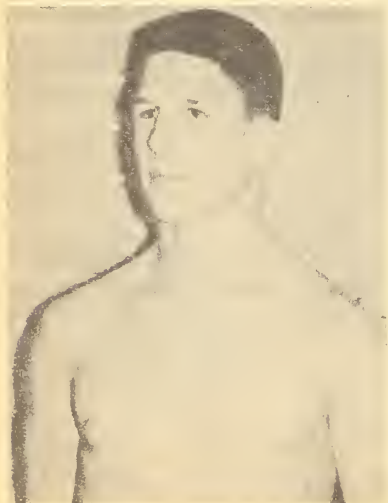

What he didn't tell them was that the three away meets were against Johns Hopkins, Baltimore U., and Towson State, all within a 5 mile radius of the school. What a politician!

All of this is by way of leading up to the fact that the 1959-60 version of the Loyola wrestling team is in need of candidates. Although 20 men have turned out for the squad, the team still lacks depth in some weight classes.

Anyone interested in participating in a sport which bestows bodily control and physical alertness upon the participant, should contact new coach Dick Clem in the gym.

Incidentally, the matmen have four out of nine matches off-campus this year, one of which is vs. American U. in Washington. BASKETBALL. High jumping Ed Murn was the recipient of the Loyola mug which was awarded to the player who showed the most all out hustle in the American U. Game. Ed snared 20 rebounds, while scoring 7 points.

MERRY CHRISTMAS. On behalf of the entire sports staff, may I wish you a MERRY CHRISTMAS & HAPPY NEW YEAR.

Seeley Powley

Beauchamp (23) blocks Murn's (21) shot in last Saturday's game with A.U.

A.U. Game Nip And Tuck Then Along Came Jones; Hofstra Here Tonight

By LAWRENCE R. STURM

Tonight Loyola's Hoopsters face a strong and well balanced Hofstra squad. Hofstra will be led by Ted Jackson, a 6:3 junior, who is a good rebounder and an outstanding scorer. Hofstra defeated Washington U. and L.I.U. in their two previous encounters. Saturday the Hounds take on Adelphi which last year was rated the number one small college team in the country. Both games are Home encounters starting at 8:15.

Intramural Items

By MATT SCHWIENTECK

Smirnoff's defeated the Mole-skins 12-7.

Smirnoff's opened the scoring on a pass from Short to Coyle. They followed this up with a 40 yard scoring aerial from Short to DiNenna.

A seven yard pass from Lomp to Healy scored for the Mole-skins. Several times the Skins were inside the 20 yard stripe but could not score.

Mole-skins 13 over Dukes 12

A 40 yard sleeper play from Healy to Powley gave the Skins their first score. The Dukes then countered on a pass from Brown to Schroeter to tie the score.

The Skins then went ahead on a pass from Healy to Sibiski. Bavis grabbed a pass for the point after touchdown.

Brown then passed to Schroeter to end the scoring for the Dukes.

Smirnoff's 15 over Vets 13

DiNenna and Cullen scored for Smirnoff's, while Twardowicz and Santoni scored for the Vets. The winning margin was provided by a safety and an extra point.

Last Saturday Willie Jones came through for A.U. in the fourth quarter to enable them to down the Hounds 61-59. After being held to a meager seven points in the first half, Willie scored sixteen in the second for a total of twenty-three. The last two points were free throws which came with only six seconds remaining and proved to be the margin of victory.

Loyola was led by Joe O'Hara who dropped in seventeen, and Mike Sneeringer and John Heagney who scored fourteen and thirteen points respectively. Sneeringer got most of points in the first half, but he fouled out before he got started in the second. Loyola's Ed Murn was top rebounder in game, grabbing 20 and O'Hara also grabbed 13 for the Hounds.

"B" Team

Loyola's "B" basketball team succumbed to a powerful five from Baltimore Junior College in a bitterly contested game, 70 to 69.

Though losing, the game provided many bright spots such as the fine 29 point effort by Tony Rivazzo as well as the tremendous amount of teamwork which was displayed by a team that was in only its first game.

The team takes on Calvert Hall at 3:45 on December the fifteenth at home.

St. Peters Foe Of Hound Fish; Fordham Upset

By PETE COOK

Fresh from their upset of Fordham University, the Loyola College swimming team takes on St. Peter's College (N.J.) tonight at 7 p.m.

By beating Fordham (62-33) last Saturday, the Hounds avenged last years setback (44-41). They did it in amazing fashion, taking at least second and third, and thus scoring at least 4 points, in every event. The New Yorkers won six of the eleven events, but lacked the necessary depth to score in the number two and three positions.

Besides winning both the free-style and medley relays, the Greyhounds took first in the 50 and 100 yard freestyle (Seeley Powley) and the diving (Vic Corbin). Two pool records were set by the Rams' Drury Gallagher in the 200 yard individual medley and the 440-yard freestyle.

Tonight's meet is part of a swimming-basketball doubleheader. The hoopsters oppose Hofstra in the other half of the twinbill.

Grapplers Prepare For Meet With Gallaudet, Jan. 6

On Wednesday, January 6th, the 1960 Loyola wrestling team will open its season against Gallaudet of D.C. The Hounds are loaded in one department, Determination.

Coach Dick Clem's team is composed of six vets — Carey, Blair, Parr, Buchness, Graham and Bill Iampieri. Tom Iampieri (Bill's brother), Connor, Donellan, Mchan, Garrett, Curran and Breschi have been quite impressive and are showing daily improvement. The remainder of the 25 man squad are beginners but according to Clem, they show much promise.

Manager Tom Opitz would welcome assistance from students interested in becoming scorers or timers.
